

~~~ Carl & Henrietta Geier Photo Gallery ~~~

Studio Portrait. Precise date unknown, circa 1950's.
Front L-R: Carl, Sally, Rosella, and Henrietta.
Back L-R: Bernard, Hulda, David, Charles, Calvin, William, Renada, and John.
Hulda was not present, picture added by photographer.

L-R: David, Bernard, Rosella, Calvin, Renada,
Charles, John, Hulda, Carl, and Henrietta.

Above Right: Carl Geier farm, early 1940's. L-R: Calvin, David, Douglas, John, Martha Koenig-Geier, Earl, Renada Geier-Sagan, Judy Sagan, Jim Sagan, Bernard, Pearl, Henrietta, and Carl.

Date, location and event: 1960 at Heaton, North Dakota. Carl and Henrietta's 50th Wedding Anniversary.
L-R: Hulda, John, Bernard, David, Henrietta, Renada, William, Carl, Rosella, Sally, Calvin, Charles.

Date, location and event: Early 1970's, Fessenden, North Dakota. Family Reunion.
L-R: Hulda, John, Bernard, David, Henrietta, Renada, William, Carl, Rosella, Sally, Calvin, and Charles.
Bernard was reunion organizer and a good time was had by all.

Date and location: Early 1940's at Carl Geier farm. L-R: Calvin, John, Carl, Henrietta, and Bernard.

Left: Carl Geier and good friend, August Hinger. August's son, Ike, married Amanda Herman. Her younger sister, Selma Herman, married my dad, Bernard Geier. Sometime about 1950 Dad purchased the August Hinger farm and operated that until he retired in 1988. My dad had a dream one night in which he saw August and his wife walking down the road that ran past our farm. In the dream they said to him, "So, you are living here now."

< Here we see Carl and Henrietta with their youngest daughter, Rosella. I think they're off to attend church as it looks like Grandpa has his bible stuffed in his left coat pocket. It's possible he had the sermon.

Left: I have no idea when or where this studio photo was taken, but they appear older here than in those above. I would venture it might date sometime in the 1950's or 60's. It is priceless!

Right: Studio portrait of Henrietta Geier with her three youngest sons, Calvin, Bernard, and John. I suspect the photo was probably taken about 1950, since the boys all appear to be in their twenties. Grandma Geier was very proud of all her boys.

Left: Grandma Geier feeding her flock of chickens and what appear to be a few turkeys. In the background are a couple utility farm buildings and behind them what appears on closer inspection to be a large stack of hay.

Top left: Grandma looking straight at the photographer, but Grandpa seems to be a million miles away, deep in thought. Top: Carl and Yetta with Rosella, Hulda, and Sally. Not sure where this was taken. I'm guessing it could have been at Lodi, California, just from the kind of trees in the background. Aunt Rose lived in Lodi for quite some time.

Re: The two photos at bottom of previous page. Left one is Uncle Calvin in his army uniform with Henrietta and Carl. He is either home from France or will be deployed there shortly. Tall stick of a man... Might even be taller than John Wayne was. He served shortly after then end of World War II, guarding German POW's. And then at right are two photos of Uncle John that I appended. Why? Because John was an avid sportsman. He raced his pony at the Wells County Fair at this age. In fact, he slept in the barn at the fairgrounds during the fair. I have no idea who the slumped-over child is seated in front of him. That is a really nice fish you got there, Uncle John. Later in life he took up the ancient game of golf.
